Centre Peace

"Christmas is a time for entertaining and celebration," says Brenda Lee Monteiro, founder of floral design specialist, Fiore Dorato. "When decorating your home for the holiday, consider a contemporary approach with a theme that embodies the traditional values of this occasion." End the year on a high note, with an elegant display measuring two metres in height. A re-interpretation of the Christmas tree, this red and green centrepiece consists of fresh Christmas pine from Holland, dressed with poinsettias, Christmas berries, orchids and Dutch roses, trimmed with vines and willows. Complemented with rose and Amaryllis lily flowerets around the table setting, this unique centrepiece can be used to accentuate the lofty ceiling of a home. Adding impact to your year-end merry-making, these festive blooms will make your soiree the talk of town. Sounds like a sweet ending.
