After all, the makers of Gosford Park are also the team that helmed the excellent The Departed, so you're ensured of a compelling story. From an object of a royal power-struggle in to her romantic courtship and legendary marriage to

Prince Albert, Emily Blunt (The Devil Wears Prada) gives a stunning performance as The Young Victoria. Also stars Miranda Richardson and Paul Bettany.

A Bunch of Amateurs

Alliance Entertainment

Burt Reynolds plays ageing Hollywood action hero Jefferson Steel. However, he's out of work, vain, insecure and is desperate to revive his flagging career. Under pressure from his client, Jefferson's incompetent LA agent Charlie (Charles Durning) is forced to go through his trash in a final attempt to find Jefferson work, and he incidentally stumbles upon the perfect role — a prestigious run in the British theatre playing King Lear at Stratford. Jefferson believes he has landed the role of a lifetime and arrives in the United Kingdom only to discover the reality: Instead of a leading role in a Royal Shakespeare Company Production at Stratford upon Avon, Jefferson has to star as King Lear for an amateur dramatic society in Stratford St John in Suffolk.
